ELECTION COMMUNICATION

Together we can build a new, fairer future for us all

I have worked closely with cross-community groups here in South West Surrey on the issues and challenges of delivering effective care. The needs of the elderly and vulnerable are particularly complex. It is hugely disappointing that Jeremy Hunt has been so incapable of leading the NHS on the right path, for the country, and for Surrey.

I am proud of the achievements of the Labour Party in this county. But the legacy of the last Labour government, especially in Health and in Schools, where we corrected years of chronic under-funding, is under threat.

In this election, we must not hand a Tory government a mandate to drive down education and health funding, or to force through further privatisation.

Only the Labour Party shows real commitment to tackling the housing crisis and the challenges faced by those unable to get on the property ladder. Without good, affordable social housing across our Surrey communities, the only path available to many young families is sky-high rents, insecure tenancies and ruinous fees. This puts many into the spiral where they can never save for the deposit on an ever more unaffordable first home.

Our pledges to you

Defend our NHS and tackle the care crisis

Give the NHS and social care services the money they need and join up services from hospital to home

Provide affordable homes to rent and buy

Build more than one million new homes in five years and scrap letting fees for private renters

Give all children a chance to achieve

Provide universal free school meals for primary school children and reduce class sizes

Protect living standards and create jobs

Introduce a real Living Wage of £10 per hour and invest in infrastructure, skills and new technology

Make our neighbourhoods safer

Stand up for frontline police in your neighbourhood and introduce stronger rights for victims

Why I am backing David

David has worked tirelessly for over a decade representing Labour across Surrey. I'm backing him to build on the strong support I gathered in 2015. Labour is the closest party to the Tories now that UKIP support has collapsed. Use your vote wisely on June 8th and back David. //

2015 Labour Parliamentary Candidate

The NHS is underfunded and understaffed

The NHS is in crisis and faces a massive financial squeeze with deficits of £2.45 billion. More than 3.9 million people are waiting for treatment. In A&E last year, 1.8 million people waited four or more hours to be seen. One in four patients wait more than a week just to speak to a GP.

The Tories aren't fixing Britain's housing crisis

Under the Tories house-building fell to its lowest peacetime level since the 1920s, and home ownership is the lowest it has been for a generation. Last year, the government deemed starter homes costing up to £450,000 to be 'affordable'.

A reckless Brexit deal will cost jobs in Surrey

Hundreds of thousands of jobs, including highly-skilled jobs in IT and Finance in London and the South East, are under threat due to political posturing. Brexit must mean putting the economy first, prioritising trade, maintaining the customs union and protecting workers' rights.

I campaigned with an alliance of all parties, including Jeremy Hunt when he was in opposition, to defend the NHS in Surrey. Now he is the biggest threat to its future. I cannot stand by and let him wreck the NHS, failing our elderly and the most vulnerable.
